Scope and aims

RECPAD 2002 is the 12th edition of the Portuguese Conference on Pattern Recognition of APRP - The Portuguese Association for Pattern Recognition. RECPAD 2002 continues a cycle of conferences organized every two years with a broad spectrum, having specialised workshops in intermediate years. A special poster session for young scientists will be organized. Undergraduate and graduate students are encouraged to submit their work. The topics to be addressed include, but are not restricted to:

Topics

- Pattern Recognition
- Computer Vision
- Neural Networks
- Mathematical Morphology
- Image Processing and Analysis
- Signal Processing
- Image and Video Coding
- Applications (Medical, Industrial, Document Analysis and others)
